

Hey Doug,

I really enjoyed your course and it was a great starting point for generative ai chatbots, thank you for you time putting that together. These days, I am an architect (yes, totally agree about drawing boxes and connecting them!) that tries to keep his hands dirty, my background is in Java backends. Needless to say, this course allowed me to dust off some old skills and brush up on my Python.

Unfortunately, it is my client's peak season (holiday commerce) and I got called into two different critical incidents the last two days. Luckily, they were due to upstream legacy systems and our system in GCP was able to scale and absorb the majority of the issue. Nevertheless, I missed most of the Challenge 2 lecture and lab time and the second half of the Day 2 lecture and some lab time.

I put together what I could. What I wasn't able to do in Challenge 2, I believe I did correctly in the Challenge 5 lab. With some more time, I know I could get the evaluations and remote API call working. Thank you again for your time and effort putting this course together, I absolutely learned a lot from an architecture perspective, while also getting to dust off some development skills, and now feel confident tinkering with AI agents in my personal projects and spare time!

Regards,

John Messer
